“ Our condolences go to the whole Cummings family. Leo was a central figure for many, always putting the needs of others ahead of his own. Leo was funny; his humor was the tongue-in-cheek type and you had to pay attention. . .but it was always worth it. Tracy and I worked with Leo at SVRC Industries for probably more than twenty years, and he was mainstay for us: any project, any time, any day, any where. I could always count on Leo for personal projects and jobs outside of work, and considered him a friend. He will sorely missed.

“ During casual conversations Leo would come up with a humorous statement related to the topic being talked about. He made your conversation all that much more with light hearted humor and laughter .
